DAY SCHOOL

Built in the early 17th century by the merchant John Harrison, St John's is not only the oldest church in Leeds but is a building of national significance with a remarkably intact interior. It is puzzling why the church is not better known in the city. The purpose of this day school is to remedy this by exploring the history of St John's and sharing with participants, the splendours of its woodwork and monuments.

Speakers

Kevin Grady

John Harrison: the Wonder of his Age

Graham Parry

The Design and Adorning of Churches, 1603-1660

Janet Douglas

St John's in the 19th Century, Victorian Vicars and their Congregations

Kenneth Powell

St John's, Gilbert Scott and Norman Shaw: a Case Study of Victorian Church Restoration

This is a free event. Please give generously to the Churches Conservation Trust who are responsible for the repair and maintenance of the building.
